

ARKANSAS

1. City of Faith Partnering with both state and federal agencies, City of Faith provides a rehabilitation service to individuals needing a second chance. Our programs enable each resident to seek employment as part of their reintegration into the community. This is beneficial to both the resident and to taxpayers. In this arrangement, a portion of the resident's income is used to offset the cost of incarceration. In addition, the residents are required to maintain a savings account where their earnings are kept until their release.

4. Arkansas Time After Time \(ATAT\) Arkansas Time After Time was established in 2010 under the volunteer leadership of Robert Combs with the simple mission to make things better. ATAT has since established professional relationships with a variety of support and advocacy organizations. An active member of the Public Policy and Law Subcommittee of the Central Arkansas Reentry Coalition, ATAT is also involved with Citizens for Legislative Change, ReformSexOffenderLaws.org, the Sex Offender Solutions and Education Network (SOSEN) and Arkansas Citizens United for Rehabilitation of Errants (CURE). ATAT's mission statement: Our goal is to help make communities safer and to protect our kids. In order to do this, we must learn to differentiate between those truly dangerous repeat violent sexual predators and those who at some time in their past committed a sex-related offense, served their sentence, completed or are currently undergoing treatment, and are working hard to re-integrate into society.
